Trendy Thursdays: Bikini Babe Forever

We are now in bikini season, you never know when you want to go out. There are times when you know you're going to the lake or the beach house and then there are times when you don't know that you're about to go somewhere amazing. I love the fact that you know that in a pinch you can get a pedi/mani in a jiffy! Whether you can get your appointment or you're a little tight on cash, you can always whip out an amazing nail color and make yourself look fabulous and your nails of course will look very luxe!

But now that we are all wearing our bathing suits, we need to make sure that we always look smooth and fab! The Personal Groomer by Artemis Woman ensures that our Brazilians, underarms, nose hairs and so much more will never be a problem! Not only will we have a quick fix but we have the joy of knowing that this comes in a small container that can be slipped in our bag and with one battery to power it, this is never something heavy so there is absolutely no excuses. This weekend I was in Long Beach and it was nice to do some touch-ups and to know that I would never have to worry! This is a must in our kits and there is a cute little brush that will take away any extra hairs to make it clean for future uses. Take some time to check out Artemis Woman's site to see more about this product.
